THE MORE "BUGS" RICHER THE MILK

That Was Theory One Consumer Worked On, Or She Did Not Understand The Meaning of Bacteria Count in Health Board Reports.

The health board is making monthly reports of the bacteria count in the milk supplied Kingston consumers by the local retail dealers, and the last report showed that one dealer had 200,000 or more bacteria in his milk that was tested by the city bacteriologist. The city milk standard is not more than 200,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter allowed.

A consumer who had been taking milk of a milkman whose bacteria count was low, about 50,000, read the report of the milk tests with great interest, and the following incident is touched for as being a true and unvarnished statement of a telephone conversation that ensued the following day:

"Hello," said a female voice over the wire, as the milk dealer whose bacteria count was not up to the city standard, answered the phone in his office.

"Hello," replied the milkman.

"I have been taking milk off Mr. ———," continued the voice of the female milk consumer, "but I see by the paper that his milk is not as rich as yours."

"Bub," grunted the milk dealer in a noncommittal tone of voice.

"And I wish that hereafter you will leave me two quarts of milk on weekdays and three quarts on Sundays, for I have told my regular milkman that he need not leave any more."

In closing it should be added that the milk dealer, who had been feeling "not any too good" when he read his milk score in the paper the night before, began to chirp up, and think that life after all was worth while.

F. & D. ENLARGES CIGAR FACTORY

Fitzpatrick & Draper are having a four story brick addition built to the cigar factory at Mill street and Hasbrouck avenue. The new addition is being erected in the rear of the present factory, and will be four stories in height, of brick construction, and will be 41 feet long and 28 feet wide. The new addition will contain a modern electric elevator, freight stairs, and be thoroughly modern in every detail. The general contract has been awarded to Charles J. F. & D. and the carpentry contract to John H. Draper. Work on the addition has been started.

MEDICAL EXAM. FOR MRS. SMITH

Woman Who Promenaded in Scanty Attire Held to Await Board of Health Inquiry—Evelyn Back at Industrial Home.

Mrs. Hattie Smith, 40 years old, of No. 42 Furnace street, shocked the residents of Furnace and Franklin streets by promenading up and down about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in a gown only in an apron and a man's short coat. She had other clothing which she carried on her arm but refused to wear, saying that the weather was too warm.

A hurry call was sent in to police headquarters, and Officer Kuehn placed Mrs. Smith under arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct. Owing to her scanty attire it was not deemed best to bring her to the city hall today to await trial, but she remained in jail.

When the case was called before Judge Schirck in police court the judge adjourned the hearing until later in the day at the court house at the request of the board of health, who will make a blood test of Mrs. Smith, and also examine her as to her sanity. The final disposition of the case will depend on the outcome of the examination.

Later Wednesday evening Sergeant Phinney went to the Smith domicile and removed Evelyn, 12 years old, to the Industrial Home, where she spent the night. She will also undergo a blood test. She is the girl who was placed in that institution recently, and disappeared after receiving a bath and an outfit of clothes.

HOWARD GUARDS BEING ORGANIZED

Republican Voters in Various Places Organizer to Bring About Nomination of Troy Jurist for Governor.

Announcement of the organization of Howard Guards in various places has been received with deep interest by many Ulster county friends of Supreme Court Justice Wesley O. Howard of Troy, whose nomination for governor by the Republican state convention at Saratoga in August has come to the front in political discussion.

Without seeking on his part, Judge Howard has received the endorsement of the Republican Clubs of Ulster and Plattsburg within the past ten days, and the New York Times announces the formation of a committee of Troy business men to aid Judge Howard's candidacy, the committee including among its members Alda M. Ide, one of Troy's wealthy collar manufacturers. The Times also states that Former State Superintendent of Prisons Cornelius V. Collins, who is the Republican leader of Rensselaer county, has become active in the Howard movement, which is also said to include among its friends former Secretary of State John F. O'Brien, Republican leader of Clinton county.

D. A. R. SERVICES.

Memorial Day Honor for Revolutionary Heroes at Noon.

The memorial service to be held Sunday, May 30, by Wiltyck Chapter, D. A. R., and the Sunday school of the First Reformed Dutch Church, in honor of the heroes of the Revolutionary war who are buried in that church yard, will be at 12 o'clock noon instead of 4.30 p. m., as previously arranged. The latter hour conflicts with the time for the unveiling of the memorial tablet at the city hall.

Members of Wiltyck Chapter, D. A. R., are requested to be at the front entrance of the First Reformed Dutch Church at 11:45 a. m. The service will be on the church grounds if the weather permits; if it rains, it will be inside the church. The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

Members of the Sunday school and Wiltyck Chapter are asked to bring all the flowers possible to the Sunday school room on Saturday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 5.

Gompers-Allen Debate.

The Gompers-Allen debate in Carnegie Hall, New York, on Friday night of which Alton B. Parker will be presiding judge, is to be a "catch-as-catch-can, no decision bout," it has been announced. According to present plans each speaker will have the widest range in the ninety minutes he will talk. There is no set question of debate other than the stipulation that the Kansas Industrial Court law be discussed. Gompers has the opening and closing with possible rebuttal by Gov. Allen. If such is required in the opinion of the presiding judge, no official decision is to be made on a winner.

Euchre and Dancing.

A euchre and dance will be held at St. Mary's school hall this evening. Those who intend playing euchre and five hundred are requested to be at the hall promptly at 8 o'clock so that the games may be finished in order to start dancing at 10 o'clock. Fifty beautiful prizes will be awarded to those securing good marks in the card games. Dancing will continue until 1 o'clock with Curt Shuster's orchestra furnishing the music. Refreshments will be on sale and two gold prizes will be given away.

Chance to Serve on Border.

There still exists a number of vacancies in various military organizations now along the Mexican border and the attention of all recruiting officers has been directed to this fact by a recent memorandum sent out from the adjutant general's office at Washington. These vacancies which exist are in organizations which have been assigned to duty on the border and with the optional one or three year enlistment period offer attractive inducements.

Guard Hartford Armory.

Hartford, Conn., May 27.—State troops are on guard at the state armory here today to prevent further attempts to destroy the building, which was destroyed by a bomb explosion last night, wrecking a part of the structure. No one was injured although several squads of guardsmen who were drilling narrowly escaped. The police are investigating.

AGED MINE OWNER DIES AT CAIRO

Was Struck by Automobile While Walking on Outskirts of Village Sunday Night—Police Seek Motorists.

Emil Salis, an owner of gold mines at New Lakeard, Ontario, Canada, died Wednesday at Cairo, Greene county, from injuries which he received Sunday night when he was struck by an automobile while walking in the outskirts of the village.

Mr. Salis was born in Berlin 72 years ago and spent most of his life in Germany. On account of his German affiliations, he was compelled to leave Canada during the war and lived in New York city with his cousin, Mrs. Herman E. A. Graesser, wife of Dr. Graesser. He was getting ready to return to Canada when he met with the accident which caused his death.

The motorists whose car struck Mr. Salis are being sought by the authorities of Greene county.

NO 2.75 BEER FOR KINGSTON

Despite the fact that Governor Smith has signed the 2.75 beer bill and Herbert S. Sisson, head of the state excise commission is now prepared to issue licenses to those communities that are not dry by local option, Kingston will continue to quench its thirst in the one-half of one per cent amber fluid now sold over "counters," as bars are now called.

Not only Kingston but all other cities below the second class will be thus affected, for the 2.75 beer bill, the hope of the desert dream, applies only to cities of the first and second classes. Then, too, it cannot be sold in what was once known as the saloon.

No Shows Sunday.

The theater shows in this city will be closed all day Sunday when Decoration Day will be observed.

METHODISTS KEEP BAN ON DANCING

The Methodists are to keep the so-called amusement ban as the committee on the state of the church at the General Conference at Des Moines Iowa, Wednesday, voted to preserve Paragraph 280, the famous compulsory but non-enforced provision against amusements, in the discipline and requested the conference to adopt their judgment without debate.

As a sort of supplemental and supporting plan a program of recreation and social life will be inaugurated under the direction of the quarterly conference of the local church. A great many churches have such a plan in practice now and making this the general rule will be following the experience of a number of men.

Paragraph 280 has long been a battle-ground. Not very long after its insertion in the discipline there was an effort to have it removed, but it was there and to get it out has been the problem of the progressive element of the church, but to retain it has been the successful stand of the conservatives.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Complimentary Dance.

The U. S. Lace Curtain Mills gave a complimentary dance to its employees at Holy Cross Hall Wednesday evening, May 26, which was attended by over 200 of the workers and their friends. I. Brill, president of the company, and E. F. Steiner, secretary and treasurer, were also present. Several concert selections were rendered by Curtis Shuster's orchestra, followed by dancing. At 10:30 o'clock luncheon was served by the well known hotel man, Joseph Pessenaar, after which dancing was resumed until the small hours of the morning. All unite in saying that they had a fine time and express the hope that this first dance will be followed by many others.

Hoff-Bartholomew.

The marriage is announced of Edward H. Hoff, Jr., of Catskill, to Miss Eva May Bartholomew of Meriden, Conn. The wedding took place on Wednesday, May 19, at 2 p. m. in All Saints' Church, Meriden. After a beautiful repast was served, the bride and groom started on their trip by auto carrying with them the good wishes of their many friends. Many valuable presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Hoff. At the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoff, in Catskill, a reception was held on Thursday afternoon. Supper was served to about thirty guests and many beautiful presents were received. The groom is employed as bookkeeper with the Kingston Gas & Electric Co. in Kingston.

HATTIE TURNS UP.

Missing German Street Girl Is Working In New York.

Hattie Horvics, 16 years of age, who ran away from home two weeks ago is working in a hospital in New York city, and expects to return home for Decoration Day holiday. A letter to that effect was received from her by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Horvics, No. 21 German street, on Wednesday. As related in The Freeman at the time the girl left home stating that she was going to work in the pants factory on Spring street, and that she would not be home for dinner as she was going to lunch with a girl friend. That was the last heard of her until Wednesday.

Says Czar Is Alive.

The Czar of Russia and the members of his family are alive and well, and safe in hiding, Miss Anna Laurie Williams, a Hyde Park woman, just returned from Red Cross work in Siberia, stated was the general belief in that country. Fear of assassination by Soviet agents, who are located in "tremendous numbers" in this country, prevented Miss Williams from stating any proof she may possess, but she believes they are alive," she said. Miss Williams who wears decorations bestowed by the anti-Russian government at Omsk, has passed through a year of experience almost unscathed by any woman of recent years. She has seen the Red terror at its worst.

K. of C. State Convention.

Edward J. Cullen and E. Frank Flanagan of this city will be delegates to the annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus which will open Tuesday in Glass Falls. Delegates will assemble at St. Mary's Church where services will be conducted by the Rev. Thomas Howard of Oswego, former state chaplain of the body. The convention will last two days. Elaborate preparations have been made by the Glass Falls council to make the convention this year one of the biggest in the history of the state council. More than 500 delegates will attend.

One Growing Population.

Mr. and Mrs. Louise H. Howard are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a daughter, Phyllis, at their home, No. 22 Foster avenue.

A daughter, Nilda Gertrude, has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob D. Madsen on Glen street.

MINERS REJECT WILSON PLAN

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 27.—By a unanimous vote the convention of anthracite miners here this afternoon rejected Secretary of Labor Wilson's plan of wage settlement with the operators.

C. E. CONVENTION CLOSED AT NOON

C. A. Raschke of This City Again Named President of County Organization—Able Addresses Delivered At All Sessions.

The twenty-eighth annual convention of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union closed in the Hurley Reformed church this noon after a two day session. There was a large representation of the various societies in the county in attendance, and the church was well filled at each meeting. The speakers were of unusual character.

At the session on Wednesday afternoon, the Rev. P. P. Hunter of the First Baptist church of Middletown, and first vice-president of the New York State C. E. Union delivered a very masterly address. A conference was given at the same session by Carlton M. Sherwood, field secretary of the state union, in which many points of interest and valuable information was given on the various phases of the work.

The evening session was opened with devotions conducted by the Rev. Frank D. Blanchard of Shokan. Following an anthem by the church choir, the committees of the union were appointed. The matter of the budget was discussed and it was decided to raise the budget by the pledge system. Rev. Henry W. Sherwood, former pastor of the Wurts street Baptist Church, this city, later of Hudson Falls, and now of Rhinebeck in a charming yet simple, impressive and effective way delivered an address, the truths of which will never be forgotten by those who had the pleasure of hearing him. Rev. Sherwood is also a former president of the New York State Union.

The session this morning opened at 8:15 o'clock with devotions conducted by the Rev. John F. Nichols, after which reports of committees and officers were received, showing the organization to be in a very flourishing condition, both financially and spiritually. The following officers were then elected: President, C. A. Raschke; first vice president, Dr. George H. Scofield, Highland; second vice president, Miss Ida Burnett, Saugerties; recording secretary, Thomas Clearwater, Kingston; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Nellie Klotz, Kingston; treasurer, Lester E. Becker, Kingston; pastoral counselor, Rev. F. W. Meot, Kingston. The following superintendents were chosen: Junior, Miss Evelyn Rugg, Port Jervis; intermediate, Miss Minnie Smart, Kingston; missionary, Miss Anna Osterhoudt, Hurley; good citizenship, Rev. Garret De Molts, Walkkill; quiet hour, Mrs. W. T. Rivenburgh, Highland; extension, Luther S. Fowler, Kingston; alumni, Miss J. D. Cronie, Kingston.

Following the election the report of the committee for the time and place for the next convention was received. It was decided to hold the next convention in Walkkill in October, taking the place of the spring convention. An address on "Reform the Throne or Weigh in the Balance and Found Wanting," was delivered by the Rev. A. O. Malmberg of New York city, superintendent of Good Fellowship of the New York State Union. This address was listened to with the closest attention by all present. Mr. Malmberg is a speaker of unusual ability and presented his truths in such a forceful manner that one hardly realized the time was passing.

After the roll call of the societies, to which nearly all organizations in the union responded, the members of committee work, was treated very ably by the Rev. F. W. Meot of this city on the local committee, the Rev. L. Appledorn on the prayer meeting committee and the Rev. Garret De Molts on the lookout committee. The convention was closed with a few remarks by the president and the passing of a resolution thanking the people of Hurley for the hospitable treatment received.

Grave May Recover.

Oliver Gross, eight years old, who suffered a fracture of his skull at Hurley on Friday when hit by an automobile as he jumped from the rear end of a wagon, is at the Kingston hospital where he is said to have a chance of recovery. Immediately after he was struck he was taken to the hospital in an automobile and underwent an operation.

Racing at Rhinebeck.

There will be good racing at Rhinebeck on Decoration Day. Starting at 2 o'clock there have been entered for the race from New York, Philadelphia, Hudson and the best of the season. Mr. William T. Thompson and Willie Barker, from Kingston, are expected to be a great home race and many people from Kingston will probably attend.

Alphonsus Balthazar.

Students of St. Joseph's College at St. Albans, N. H., are expected to arrive at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob D. Madsen on Glen street.

WILSON VETOES KNOX RESOLUTION

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 27.—President Wilson will send his veto of the Knox resolution, declaring the state of war with Germany and Austria at an end, to congress today.

Secretary Tammly made this announcement at the White House following a conference with the president. Asked whether the president would return the treaty to the senate with the veto message, Tammly replied: "I can not answer that."

DECLINES TO GRANT ARMENIA MANDATE

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Reports, 11 to 1, Resolution Refusing President Authority—Reasons to Be Threshed Out on Floor.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 27.—The senate foreign relations committee this afternoon, by a vote of 11 to 4, reported a resolution to the senate "respectfully declining" to grant the authority requested by President Wilson to accept a mandate for Armenia.

The resolution, presented by Senator Brandegee, Republican, of Connecticut, provides that "the congress hereby respectfully declines to grant the executive the power to accept a mandate over Armenia, as requested in the message of the president dated May 21."

The report of the foreign relations committee will not go into the question as to the reasons for declining to accept the mandate, the question being left open for argument of the various places by members of the committee on the floor of the senate. Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, suggested that the committee make a detailed report and not decline in "such a summary manner." He was overruled.

MEMORIAL DAY FLOWERS SCARCE

Backwardness of Season and Early Demand for Home-grounds Decoration Furnish Reasons for Scarcity.

Cut flowers and flowering plants have been so much in demand this year that the local supply will probably be exhausted by the time Memorial Day arrives.

There are two causes for this year's Memorial Day shortage of plants and flowers: the backwardness of the season and the increasing demand by householders that their grounds shall be planted before the first of June. Nearly all florists depend to a considerable extent on hardy plants to supply them with flowers for general decorating purposes for Memorial Day. They unite in describing the flowering season as being three weeks behind this year with the result that peonies, snowball and other flowers of the hardy perennial class are extremely scarce. Many families depend on their own gardens to furnish flowers for their cemetery lots and in the absence of flowers in their home gardens they have turned to the florists for hot house plants.

For several years there has been a growing tendency on the part of home-owners to beautify their grounds with flowering plants and shrubs, and plants raised or kept under glass have been ordered early in order that grounds might make a beautiful appearance in spite of the backward season. This demand has been particularly large this year from rural sections, especially among New Yorkers who have established summer homes in Ulster county.

The war has had the effect of increasing the demand for flowers for cemetery decoration on Memorial Day. In addition to the decoration of graves by families and individuals, the custom has grown among fraternal organizations in other cities to have wreaths or flowers placed on the graves of deceased members who are buried throughout Ulster county, and these flowers were ordered from the local florists. In consequence of these conditions, people who desire flowers and plants from the florists but have neglected to place their orders are finding only a limited supply from which to make their selection, and even the continued warm weather which is promised for the next few days, or the normal development of nature, drops in the greenhouse, is expected to produce enough flowers to meet the Memorial Day demand.

Willie Plant On The Way.

The board of public works has received word that the Willie plant has been shipped, and is expected to reach Kingston shortly when the work of Willing Broadway will be started. The shipment of the plant has been delayed by freight congestion on the railroad.

INFORMATION FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Former service men are notified by Director R. G. Cholmeley-Jones, of the bureau of war risk insurance, that a new official circular of information listed as "LD-8" and entitled "New and Liberal Features of War Risk Insurance," is now issued.

The text of this bulletin is based upon the latest amendment to the war risk act which permits payments in one sum on converted insurance in case of death, and enlarges the permitted class of beneficiaries in the case of both war risk (term) and converted insurance.

The circular is printed in booklet form, illustrated by charts, and has an index by the use of which any ordinary question about government insurance may be readily answered. A copy of the booklet may be obtained by writing to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, D. C., or upon application to organizations of former service men and welfare organizations co-operating with the bureau of war risk insurance.

Former service men whose insurance has lapsed or been cancelled, and who wish to reinstate it or convert it, or to effect both these processes at the same time, are advised to secure a copy of the official form described as "LD-8," Good News for all Ex-Service Men, which is a combination of information sheet and reinstatement and conversion blanks, the latter to be filled out, detached and mailed directly to the bureau.

Regardless of how long a service man has been discharged or how long his insurance has lapsed or been cancelled, he may reinstate his war risk insurance at any time before July 1, 1920, or within eighteen months after his discharge, if that be a later date, and upon payment of only two monthly premiums on the amount of insurance he desires to reinstate, with a satisfactory statement of health.

Information about war risk insurance and circular "LD-8" may be had at the Home Service Office, A. R. C., at 44 Main street.

SEEMS SON.

Francis Father Believes Michael Bass is in This City.

A man giving his name as B. Bass has written to The Freeman asking for information as to the whereabouts of his son, Michael, aged 26, who left his father in 1911 in Chicago. Mr. Bass states that the last he heard from his son was a few weeks after his departure, in Toronto, Canada. He has since heard that Michael had settled in this city. The city directory gives no person by the name of Bass. The father asks that this plea be published in the hope that his son will see it.

"Michael, my boy, write to me, for God's sake do, before it is too late."

The address of the elder Mr. Bass is Apartment 24, 172, Sherman avenue, New York city.

LAKE KATRINE.

Lake Katrine, May 26.—The Efficiency Club will present a play called "Just Like a Woman," at the Grange hall Friday evening at 8:50 o'clock. Tickets are now on sale. The cast of characters is as follows:

Wesley G. Parish

Mrs. Smith, Joshaway's wife

Anna Snyder

Reuben Smith, (the son who lives in Buffalo)

Donald Parish

Polly Pepper

Margaret Sears

John Austin Hazenstab, Polly's lover.

Auley Roosa

Doris Duncan, a neighbor's daughter

Margaret Auchmoody

Dancing will follow the entertainment.

Mrs. Cornelius DuMond and family have moved on the John Tamney place at South Flatbush.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Schoonmaker of Accord spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bishop are spending a few days at their home here.

Mrs. Jacob Kieffer, David Kieffer and Miss A. Brewer went to Newburgh Sunday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Joseph Stone.

Miss Sara Burhans spent Monday with her sister, Mrs. Blandina Myers of Hurley, who celebrated her 52nd birthday on that day.

George Shells and family of Malden expect to move here in the near future.

Mrs. James Lowe who had an operation for abscess, is improving under the care of Dr. Vrooman.

Miss Anna Snyder spent the day with her sister, Mrs. Harry Davis of Flatbush last Friday.

The Local Union of Christian Endeavorers of Kingston were represented at the service Sunday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Healey, Miss Benson, Mrs. Elsie Pultz and Miss Josephine Cromie. Miss Benson spoke on the merits of an efficiency class.

Miss Cromie on the stimuli and Mr. Healey called attention to the coming convention at Hurley.

Mrs. Elsie Pultz, whose family formerly resided in Lake Katrine, and who has the distinction of being the sister of three brothers who are ministers of the gospel and is herself a most entertaining speaker, gave a very eloquent discourse on the text, taken from Isa. 61-2; last portion of the verse. "The planting of the Lord that he might be clothed." She held the clear attention of every one present.

The programs for children's day have arrived and bids fair to be one of the best ever presented.

The Rev. Abram Purvis of New York will address the Bible school at the close of their session next Sunday afternoon. Regular preaching at night.

The many friends of Mrs. Cornelia Law rejoice in her improved condition.

CONDENSED CLASSICS

THE SEA WOLF

By JACK LONDON

Condensed by C. R. Carlow

Jack London was born with the love of adventure in his veins, at San Francisco, Jan. 12, 1874. He started his education at the University of California, but did not finish it there, for the strenuous life was to be his school, and all humanity were to be his teachers. Any strange place his schoolroom. Now he was in the Klondike, now in the Amazon, now in the Arctic, now in the tropics, now in the desert, now in the mountains, now in the sea. He was a great explorer, a great hunter, a great fisherman, a great swimmer, a great runner, a great fighter, a great lover, a great writer. He was a man of many faces, a man of many names, a man of many adventures. He was a man who lived for the moment, a man who lived for the thrill, a man who lived for the fight, a man who lived for the love, a man who lived for the life. He was a man who was not afraid of death, a man who was not afraid of pain, a man who was not afraid of failure, a man who was not afraid of anything. He was a man who was a hero, a man who was a legend, a man who was a god. He was a man who was a man.

rope was coiled around the offender and he was cast overboard in the wake of the ship. A shark rushed for him and Larsen ordered him pulled in. Despite the maddened haste, the shark in the final rush tore away the foot of the victim.

"The shark was not in the reckoning, Miss Brewster," said the Sea Wolf, smilingly. "It was—shall we say—an act of Providence."

This scene convinced Humphrey that he must kill Wolf Larsen. His courage flared up so brightly that he actually threatened to murder him.

The Sea Wolf barked a whimsical snuff: "Bravo, Hump, you do me proud. I like you the better for it."

Humphrey winced. He confided his resolution to Maude, with whom he had fallen in love. She counseled against it, protesting that moral courage always defeats brute force, but she failed to convince him. He knew the Sea Wolf too well.

The dancing lights in Wolf Larsen's eyes when he looked into Maude's warned Humphrey that some day the storm would break. And it did. In the midst of the night, he rushed into Maude's cabin to find her in the crushing embrace of Wolf Larsen.

Humphrey flung himself on the monster to be tossed aside like a chip. He rushed again, drawing his knife, plunging the blade into the Sea Wolf's shoulder. Larsen staggered back and Maude seized Humphrey, begging him not to kill. Suddenly the Wolfe collapsed, not from his wound, but as if from some uncanny spell that paralyzed him. The giant was helpless. Humphrey carried him to his berth and realized that opportunity for escape was at hand.

Maude and he put off in a small boat, hoping that they might make Japan, 600 miles away. But the winds and creeping drift of the Pacific intervened and finally the grim adventure ended for a time on a little Arctic island. Here they prepared to remain for the winter.

Suddenly one morning, weeks after, Humphrey saw on the beach the wreck of a vessel. It was strangely familiar. It could not be—the Ghost. The blood chilled in his veins. Wild thoughts of flight or the sudden ending of both their lives entered his mind. Then a wondering cunning succeeded such fears. He would kill Wolf Larsen, kill him as he slept, for all on board were doubtless sleeping. With knife and gun he climbed to the deck. He saw no one. Was the ship deserted after all?

But as he rounded the poop there burst in his gaze the Sea Wolf. Humphrey raised his gun; the trigger clicked sharply. Then silence.

"Why don't you shoot?" coolly remarked the Wolf.

Humphrey could not speak.

"Hump," said the Sea Wolf, slowly, "You can't do it. And after all I have taught you. You know that I would kill an unarmed man as readily as I would smoke a cigar. Bah! I had expected the better things of you, Hump."

Humphrey slowly lowered the gun. The Ghost's presence was explained calmly by the Sea Wolf. He was caught in a net he had set for his hated brother, "Death" Larsen, his crew were taken away and he was left alone. Pacific storms did the rest.

A strange weariness in the Sea Wolf's bearing, a hesitant, preoccupied air about him puzzled Humphrey. A few days later he again summoned courage to put him out of the way. But this time he saw Wolf Larsen slowly making his way down the deck, his quivering finger tips groping for the hand rails.

Wolf Larsen was blind! No need to kill him.

Maude and Humphrey determined to escape by repairing the Ghost, but the Sea Wolf willed otherwise. Blind and helpless as he was, he craftily contrived to ruin Humphrey's work, determined they should die together, so his grim revenge would be complete. Fiendish cunning and instinct to kill still remained.

A final reckoning was to come. Scorning precaution because he felt the Sea Wolf physically powerless from the suspected presence of a tumor on the brain, Humphrey ventured too near one day. Suddenly the Sea Wolf's stupor passed. The steel-like fingers gripped Humphrey's throat. The trap had sprung.

Maude leaped into action, tearing at Larsen's hands. But for once the Sea Wolf's tremendous will could not spur his weakened body. His fingers twitched and then relaxed and Humphrey was released.

"That was the last play of the Wolf," said Larsen, with his twisted smile. "I'd like to have done for you first, Hump. I thought I had that much left in me."

And so Wolf Larsen faded into unconsciousness, a pitiful ending for this grim sea murderer who pictured himself roaring to death in a blaze of tumult and evil splendor.

Soon the restored Ghost embraced the waves again, freighted with happiness. Then a trail of smoke on the horizon, a rescue and the lovers like as the cutter went dancing over the waves on the last road home.

How Sun Radiates Energy. The amount of energy that our own little planet earth receives from the sun is one and a half horsepower per square yard, or 200,000,000,000,000 horsepower for the whole earth. The amount of the solar energy that is intercepted by the earth must be infinitesimal compared to the total amount poured forth from the surface of the sun. It has been estimated, in fact, that all the planets together receive less than one one hundred millionth (1/100,000,000) of the total radiant energy of the sun in the form of light and heat, the remainder pouring on to the stars beyond at the rate of 170,000 million per second.

Shooting Fish. The shooting fish brings down to sea a shower of from one to four feet by squirting them with water from its mouth.

Hydrographers Know the Sea. A person who practices ocean routes for steamers is known as a hydrographer. He makes maps and charts of the seas and other waters, he determines and reports the condition of navigable waters, whether open or closed, charting the currents and rivers, determining depths, the quality of the bottom, the tides of the seas and measuring the currents.

Break the Machine. The woodman always breaks in two a notch after one. The habit prompts the thought "Be careful," requires bending the last end, takes up little time, and if the notch is not cut straight, the last which turns at the ground is not so likely to generate heat enough to ignite the stick. Get the habit.

Appearances Are Deceptive. Those who have been able to catch sight of shells passing through the air have described them as appearing "like long lead pencils with indistinct blurred edges."

Concealed in Earth's Boon. The earth conceals many wonderful objects, both natural and man-made, that are being discovered from time to time. Remains of prehistoric nations, ruins and jewelry, statues, old records, and other things have been found from time to time. Thousands have been discovered while in search of gold. Their bones or those of their relatives, the skeletons, have been dug up in Alaska, in New York state, and in the Middle East, and in New England.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 27, 1920.

Southern Democrats, those who can see a day or two ahead, are about convinced that the best they can do is to devote their time to business affairs and not worry over who will be the next Democratic president. It is so far away that the intelligent southerner feels that he can enjoy a respite from politics for a while. Wilson, notwithstanding all that he did for the sunny south, seems to have lost out on a top liner with the producers.

Apparently the cities were the strongest in influence with Governor Smith as regards daylight saving. The farmer, however, will have his day in court some time and his verdict will be heard by Tammany Hall. There was never much doubt as to what the governor would do when the question got down to Tammany on one side and the up-state farmer on the other. Maybe the governor will try to explain his position more fully when he goes out on the stump this fall.

One of the reasons why Governor Smith vetoed a bill recently was because it would put "too much power into the hands of a few politicians." The governor was right on this, a few would be dangerous. He, perhaps, would prefer to have the power placed in the hands of just one, if that one were Charles F. Murphy. It will be remembered that one man by the name of Murphy had much to do with the nomination of Governor Smith, so why take any chance on what a few might do? The governor is right, absolutely; there is danger in a few.

THE MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

The prisoner at Doorn is said to be engaged in writing a history of the World War as well as in saving wood. Of course he knows that nobody will accept his account of the origin of the devastating struggle, but he wishes to offer excuses for himself and, above all, he feels the need of occupying his mind. Doubtless his continuing effort is to divert his thoughts from the might have been, for he might still be strutting about Germany in a Kaiser's theatrical pomp if he had only been content to dominate there and had not become obsessed with the determination to rule the rest of the world also. In his present low estate how terrible must be the thought of the might have been. And if he has even the rudiments of a conscience, how much more terrible still must be the thought of the might have been for Germany and for all the world! Even he can hardly remain utterly callous and unmoved as he reads such items as the following Paris dispatch:

What is perhaps the first concise and comprehensive statement of France's war losses has just been made by Captain Andre Tardieu, former French High Commissioner in the United States. Captain Tardieu states that during the five years of war 8,000,000 men were mobilized, of whom 1,400,000 were killed, 800,000 maimed, and 300,000 wounded. France thus lost 27 per cent of her men under 32 years of age. Concerning material losses, Captain Tardieu states that 400,000 houses were destroyed, 75,000,000 acres of arable land were lost, 2,000 miles of railroad and 25,000 miles of highway destroyed. Mines which produced 55 per cent of France's total coal output were damaged or destroyed; 11,500 factories which before the war produced 95 per cent of the wooden goods, 30 per cent of the linen material, 70 per cent of the sugar and 60 per cent of the cotton goods were crippled. One-third of France's ships were sunk by German submarines. To defray the cost of munitions of war France had to raise more than 8,000,000,000 francs of which sum she was forced to loan 1,320,000,000 to foreign countries.

These are merely the losses of France. Add those of the British empire, of the United States, of Italy, of Russia, of Austria, of Germany itself, of all the end-continent, of countries of Europe, and a total will be figured to stagger the imagination, for the world never dreamed of the War before. The ghastly wreckage is not merely one of the bones of the broken, the signs of the shattered and disabled, the unparalleled destruction of property, the enormous cutting down of production, the death of countless living beings, but the groans of burdened humanity that will be heard for years and years. All this might have been prevented or forestalled if that one man at Doorn had only been content with a thousand times more than he ever deserved—if only, in spite of his colossal conceit and lust of power, he had been satisfied to lord it over Germany alone and had not aspired to lord it over the world! No wonder he now seeks to find refuge from tormenting thoughts—from himself—in unceasing labors.

years and years. HIGHLAND.

Highland, May 26.—Highland Chamber of Commerce gave a hot roast beef dinner in Foster's Hall, Friday evening last, which was a very successful affair, both socially and financially. Dinner was served at seven o'clock to 180 people by the Auxiliary Club who are very efficient along the line of dinners and suppers. The tables were attractive in their china and silver and at each place there were apple blossom sprays as favors. All joined in singing America, then Rev. F. A. Coons, pastor of the M. E. Church, said grace. As dinner was subdued, A. W. Leat, the toastmaster, made some appropriate remarks and introduced the speakers of the evening. President John Schuble gave the first address on "Let's Get Together." H. E. Wilcox, second on "Co-operation," third, A. W. Williams on "Highland of Tomorrow," fourth, G. Russell Wyckoff on "Highland in the Future," fifth, by Cornelius DeLamater of Poughkeepsie on "Thrill" and the last, but not least, was by Senator Charles W. Walton. Every address was received with much applause. The music by Mrs. Kelsey Staples, at piano and C. V. S. Wyckoff of New York as violinist was fine, also vocal selections by Miss Hall. These were appreciated and received encores, to which they responded. This was their first attempt and everyone wishes that it may be annual. Committee of Affairs was Richard M. Shopland, Howard E. Wilcox and Abram P. Wilklow.

The D. of A. will elect their officers at their next meeting, June 2. All members requested to be present. Mrs. Almira Freer has leased her store and basement to the Boston Candy Kitchen firm of Boston. They will take possession June 1. Mr. and Mrs. Abram P. Wilklow are on a motor trip to Salisbury, Md. They expect to be absent two weeks. Mrs. A. Bloomer of Vineyard avenue is quite ill at this writing. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fisher are the happy parents of a young son, born, May 11. Mother and child are doing nicely. Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Decker have as their guest for two weeks their daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Bradshaw and baby daughter of Ossining. Rev. G. H. Scofield and his father, Rev. Edward Scofield, have returned from a trip to Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Strothoff, former residents here, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Palmer. Mrs. J. C. Dedrick who has been critically ill for several days is resting some easier and the family now holds out some hope. Mrs. Simon Scott was in Lloyd one day this week visiting her mother. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller of Kingston were guests of Captain and Mrs. R. H. Decker, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Murrel Freer of Kingston were guests of Mr. Freer's parents on Sunday. They also called on several friends in this place. Mrs. Mary Malloch of Grand street was a shopper in Poughkeepsie this week. Rev. Foster A. Coons will deliver a Memorial sermon Sunday evening, to the Daughters of America in the M. E. Church. They also have invited the American Legion, the G. A. R., and J. O. U. A. M. The orders will meet in the church parlor to march in the church. All ladies of D. of A. requested to wear white. Missionary service was held in M. E. Church last Sunday evening. The pastor, Rev. F. A. Coons, gave a very interesting address upon mission work. Some of the members were in costume and gave some remarks on mission work. There was good music and every one was well pleased.

Mrs. G. S. La Moree has gone to visit Rev. and Mrs. Combs in Arlington, New Jersey. From there, she will visit Rev. and Mrs. Wilcox in Baltimore. She will be absent some time from home. At Missionary meeting with Mrs. Arthur Merritt last week election of officers took place for the year, 1920. Miss Josephine Freer of New York city was the week end guest of her mother, Mrs. Almira Freer, on Main street. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Elting are at Charville at their summer camp for recreation. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Atkins have guests for a week from New York city.

The congregation of M. E. Church will give a reception to their pastor and wife on Friday evening, June 1, in the church parlor. Mrs. Kelsey Staples has charge of the music for the evening. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Brown have sold their home and farm on Vineyard avenue. We hear they will reside in the village. Mr. Robert Van Wagoner has at present with her, Mrs. Harriet Barker, of New Jersey. Mr. McLean and family are busy adding buildings. There is a great demand here for houses and people will have to purchase soon and even houses or land buyers are in immediate need.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Palmer left this week for Saratoga. Mr. Watson was for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Davidson. They will return next week. The day to a day trip. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schuman, born and bred here, have returned from a trip to New York and will be heard for years and years.

years and years. All this might have been prevented or forestalled if that one man at Doorn had only been content with a thousand times more than he ever deserved—if only, in spite of his colossal conceit and lust of power, he had been satisfied to lord it over Germany alone and had not aspired to lord it over the world! No wonder he now seeks to find refuge from tormenting thoughts—from himself—in unceasing labors.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, May 26.—Highland Chamber of Commerce gave a hot roast beef dinner in Foster's Hall, Friday evening last, which was a very successful affair, both socially and financially. Dinner was served at seven o'clock to 180 people by the Auxiliary Club who are very efficient along the line of dinners and suppers. The tables were attractive in their china and silver and at each place there were apple blossom sprays as favors. All joined in singing America, then Rev. F. A. Coons, pastor of the M. E. Church, said grace. As dinner was subdued, A. W. Leat, the toastmaster, made some appropriate remarks and introduced the speakers of the evening. President John Schuble gave the first address on "Let's Get Together." H. E. Wilcox, second on "Co-operation," third, A. W. Williams on "Highland of Tomorrow," fourth, G. Russell Wyckoff on "Highland in the Future," fifth, by Cornelius DeLamater of Poughkeepsie on "Thrill" and the last, but not least, was by Senator Charles W. Walton. Every address was received with much applause. The music by Mrs. Kelsey Staples, at piano and C. V. S. Wyckoff of New York as violinist was fine, also vocal selections by Miss Hall. These were appreciated and received encores, to which they responded. This was their first attempt and everyone wishes that it may be annual. Committee of Affairs was Richard M. Shopland, Howard E. Wilcox and Abram P. Wilklow.

The D. of A. will elect their officers at their next meeting, June 2. All members requested to be present. Mrs. Almira Freer has leased her store and basement to the Boston Candy Kitchen firm of Boston. They will take possession June 1. Mr. and Mrs. Abram P. Wilklow are on a motor trip to Salisbury, Md. They expect to be absent two weeks. Mrs. A. Bloomer of Vineyard avenue is quite ill at this writing. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fisher are the happy parents of a young son, born, May 11. Mother and child are doing nicely. Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Decker have as their guest for two weeks their daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Bradshaw and baby daughter of Ossining. Rev. G. H. Scofield and his father, Rev. Edward Scofield, have returned from a trip to Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Strothoff, former residents here, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Palmer. Mrs. J. C. Dedrick who has been critically ill for several days is resting some easier and the family now holds out some hope. Mrs. Simon Scott was in Lloyd one day this week visiting her mother. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller of Kingston were guests of Captain and Mrs. R. H. Decker, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Murrel Freer of Kingston were guests of Mr. Freer's parents on Sunday. They also called on several friends in this place. Mrs. Mary Malloch of Grand street was a shopper in Poughkeepsie this week. Rev. Foster A. Coons will deliver a Memorial sermon Sunday evening, to the Daughters of America in the M. E. Church. They also have invited the American Legion, the G. A. R., and J. O. U. A. M. The orders will meet in the church parlor to march in the church. All ladies of D. of A. requested to wear white. Missionary service was held in M. E. Church last Sunday evening. The pastor, Rev. F. A. Coons, gave a very interesting address upon mission work. Some of the members were in costume and gave some remarks on mission work. There was good music and every one was well pleased.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETES IN STATE MEET

Results to Be Sent to State Department of Physical Training and Compared With High Schools of Other Third Class Cities—Names of Winners.

The results of the athletic meet at Kingston High School conducted by the state and high school athletic association have just been compiled. The various events were run off between the first of the month and the 22nd, and will be sent to the state department of physical training where the records will be compared with the records of other high schools in third class cities in the state. The meet was conducted by the physical department of the board of education, assisted by Physical Director Dillinger of the Y. M. C. A., and Arthur Rice, the ballplayer.

The results at the grade schools will be published as soon as compiled.

Is now displaying the well known
Columbia Grafonolas and Records

We have a large stock of machines and aim to carry the full list of records. Be sure you come in and hear the newest records released today, listed below.

You can dance to the very last note

With the Columbia Grafonola you can dance to the last lingering note and step. The Non Set Automatic Stop takes care of that. This exclusive Columbia feature is at its best for dancing. There's nothing to move or set or measure. Just start the Grafonola and it plays and stops itself.

With the Only Non Set Automatic Stop

This long-wanted improvement is now a part of the new Columbia Grafonola. Built right into the motor. Invisible. Automatic. Operates on any record, long or short.

No other phonograph has it. All other stops must be set by hand for every record. No other phonograph can get it. Basic patents protect the Columbia Non Set Automatic Stop.

It is the last touch of convenience added to the Columbia Grafonola's recognized leadership in beauty of design, richness of tone, and reliability of mechanism.

Ask the nearest Columbia dealer for a demonstration of the stop that needs no setting.

Standard Models up to $300—Period Designs up to $2100

SPARED FAIR SEX

Outtime "Knights of the Road"
Not Always Stern.

Even Notorious Freebooters Have Been Known to Succumb to Feminine Wiles—Captain Kidd
Among the Number.

Highwaymen, if ancient ballads and traditions concerning famous "knights of the road" may be believed, have often been polite to ladies; but pirates, rarely. Nevertheless, the late Elizabeth Christophers Hobson, in her delightful "Recollections of a Happy Life," relates an instance of a polite pirate who not only spared one of her ancestresses from molestation but made her a valuable present. To be sure, the lady in the case, who was Mrs. John Lion Gardiner of Gardiner's Island, made the first polite advances, and the pirate, who was none other than the notorious Capt. Kidd himself, merely reciprocated in kind.

The owner of the island was absent when Kidd landed upon it, and Mrs. Gardiner, terrified but keeping her wits about her, invited the formidable freebooter to dinner in the hope of placating him. He accepted, and she so wisely and wily fed or charmed him, or both, that he later sent to her two rich gifts, both of which are still preserved by her descendants: the "Kidd pitcher," now strengthened by a silver band bearing an inscription recording its history, and the "Kidd blanket," a piece of superb embroidery two yards long, in crimson, green and gold. When the pitcher was presented, it was full of rare East Indian sweetmeats; the blanket is sometimes called the "Kidd altar cloth," since it was presumably stolen from a South American or Mexican church in some piratical raid.

Among the most famous names in the reprehensible but picturesque roll of British highwaymen is that of Claude Duval, who, along with his French name, possessed a dash of French politeness, at least toward the fair and easily frightened sex. He is reputed on various occasions to have spared pretty ladies their rings or lockets, if they begged him winningly enough, or had the art, which one notable belle of his era professed such a useful one to a woman, of "being able to weep movingly, and that without streaking of cheeks, or reddening of nose, but so only that Grace Tournes of Pure Crystal Slide satifs from Lids to Chlone, Like as Dew Drops upon a Rose." His most notable concession to feminine charm was not, however, a complete surrender; it was a bargain. The lovely lady with whom it was made was promised immunity for all her rich jewels. If she would but descend from the coach and forthwith dance a coranto on the heath, with the gallant and graceful Claude for her partner—a condition with which she readily complied.

A "knight of the road," of less note than Duval—indeed, quite a minor, modest figure in the annals of crime—nevertheless figured magnanimously in an old, broad-sheet ballad, in which he assisted, instead of despoiling, a lady in distress. She was, the story relates, the poor but beautiful widow of a notorious young nobleman just killed in a duel. Although of gentle blood, she was beneath him in rank, and the match had been secret. When the coach was held up she was on her way to seek out her husband's parents and ask their forgiveness and protection for herself and her baby boy. All she had to prove her case was her wedding ring and her certificate of marriage, penned and signed in miniature and carried in a locket round her neck. When these two precious trinkets were demanded at the point of a pistol, she was in despair; but the robber, bearing her story, was moved to pity.

He gave her back her small gold ring.
He put it her finger on;
Says, "Tears and mine and yours again,
Though hardly it was won."

He gave her back her golden locket;
Says, "New think well of me."
And gold and rubies to fill her pocket—
"O thanks, kind sir," says she.

If the grateful pocketing of such dubious gold and rubies by an innocent and lovely heroine in distress seems somewhat strange, the reader must remember that broad-sheet ballads of the road are concerned only with glorification of their highwaymen heroes; consistency, conscience and the heroine themselves are alike unimportant and incidental.—Tenth's Companion.

Not Dead Once.

I was using my seven passenger touring car to help a friend who was running a bus line, but who was temporarily short of cars. We were making certain routes and had on our windshields cards giving our places of destination. I was suddenly called from my regular route to take a couple to the minister to be married. As we were going up the street, with the bride adorned with her white veil and the groom in his best suit, both sitting in back, I noticed that many eyes were centered with laughter. I didn't realize the cause until I reached the parsonage and found that I had failed to remove from the windshields the sign: "This car to the cemetery."—Exchange.

In order to take care of 12,250 persons, who will attend the Republican National Convention in Chicago next month, the huge Coliseum is in the hands of the carpenters and decorators. Rows of new seats are being built, and the whole interior is being altered to fit the needs of the delegates, who will name candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States. More than 200,000 requests have been received by the committee for seats in the galleries of the Coliseum. It is said. It is expected that the great hall will be ready several days before the opening of the Convention on June 8.

CAVE-MEN IN MANY LANDS

Some of Their Dwellings Are Not Without a Fair Standard of Modern Comfort.

Troglodytes, cave men, living in their cave dwellings, are to be found in Mexico, the Canary Islands, in the Crimea, as well as in Spain, France, Italy and England, according to Harold J. Shipston, in the Wide World Magazine. The Indian troglodyte dwellings at Harl are little more than houses which it has been found simpler to cut out of the rock than to build in the trouble of collecting building materials.

The chief headquarters of the Spanish troglodytes is the village of Harl, near Valencia. Their dwellings are practically entirely beneath the ground. Many of these dwellings have been recently excavated and offer a fair standard of comfort, including a handsome palm tree in front of the entrance.

Throughout the whole of China there are endless suggestions of cave dwellings, but the only ones still inhabited are in Innermost, a name which itself means "cave dwelling." There are vast holes and cave rooms, with ledges of stones which were fashioned into beds in prehistoric times. There is also a wonderful cave church, filled with columns, a choir loft and elaborate surroundings. The altar and the cross are of an unique form that strangers are unable to connect them with any known sect.

Common Delusion.

"The reason for high prices," remarked Ted Tunkin, "is that so many people think selling can be any good unless it costs a lot of money."

The Solution.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman

New York, May 27.—Prices were buoyant at the opening of the stock market today. Initial advances ranging from fractions to three points. Steel Common, after yielding $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ %, rose to 92 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. Crucible Steel rose $\frac{1}{2}$ point to 123 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. Baldwin Locomotive advanced $\frac{1}{2}$ to 113 $\frac{1}{2}$ %, and American Locomotive $\frac{1}{2}$ to 96 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. Western Petroleum advanced nearly 1 point to 175 $\frac{1}{2}$ %, and Pan-American Petroleum rose $\frac{1}{2}$ to 103. Middle States Oil, after dropping $\frac{1}{2}$ to 24 $\frac{1}{2}$ %, rose 1 point. American Woolen reflected the news of the indictment of the American Woolen Companies of New York and Massachusetts, together with President Wood, and fell $\frac{1}{2}$ to 56 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. Studebaker dropped to 64 $\frac{1}{2}$ %, and then sold up to 65 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. General Motors rose $\frac{1}{2}$ to 57 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. Fractional improvement was made in the railroad shares.

During the first hour of trading nearly all stocks which are fairly active made substantial advances, ranging from 1 to 3 points. The opening prices and high and low were established.

The market closed irregular; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

Why Dog's Nose Is Cold.

Tradition gives a droll explanation of the ever-chilly nose of the canine: Noah had some anxious and annoying moments when he was trying to coax the animals into the ark. They ran hither and thither and gave him no end of bother until he had a dog chase them, making them go where they belonged. Attending strictly to his duty and not giving up until the last pig and hyena were safely inside the ark, the dog himself was the last to get aboard. So he was obliged to squeeze himself in with his nose in the water during the whole of the voyage, an adventure that has made the nose of his descendants cold and wet forevermore.

SHOULD PLAN CLOTHES AHEAD

Waiting Until Last Minute Results in Waste of Money and Much Disatisfaction.

To the exhibitor price charged for wearing apparel for both men and women—the latter, especially—a great deal of attention has been paid by the newspapers throughout the country for the last few weeks. So far, notes a correspondent, there certainly does not seem to be any solution of the problem. About all that the various invitations and discussions have resulted in is an admission that clothes are outrageously high in price and that, according to all signs, they will continue so for many weeks, even months, to come.

Fanciful budgets have been submitted showing how economically women could dress if they would only try, but it is a regrettable fact that these budgets are largely "stunts" worked out for the sake of publicity by some would-be economist.

Women can, however, dress much more economically than most of them do if they will only give the subject of clothes sufficient real thought. The wardrobe for any season should be planned well in advance. It is waiting until the last minute and then rushing out to buy what must be had of money and, unfortunately, dissatisfaction with the purchase in a great many instances.

If a woman gives intelligent attention to her wardrobe she can buy materials or garments that will give splendid service and satisfaction at comparatively reasonable prices. There are always odds and ends of clothes that may be made over and brought up to date if a woman only tries properly to make the most of the money she has to spend, and goes about the matter in a leisurely manner.

DEMAND FOR LEGHORN HATS

Judging From Variety and Number on Display, Old-Time Favorites Will Hold Sway.

Leghorn hats will have a bigger success during the coming summer than they have ever enjoyed before, judging from the variety and number of them to be seen in the wholesale houses.

The popular type of leghorn for the new season promises to be the large "shady" model with the sides much wider than the front and back, thus producing for the first time in this kind of hat, the irregularity of trim that has been seen in some others. The tops of the favored models are usually completely covered, sometimes by a fine shadow veil of Chantilly lace and sometimes by crepe ribbon ruffles or wide bands of crepe ribbon. Upper facies and crown of silk are stretched over the leghorn frames, leaving the straw exposed on the under brim.

Fritty Ruffles Prophesied.

Fritty ruffles are prophesied and the freshness of these girlish styles may be kept dainty by pressing and laundering that would kill the life and very strength in silk or satin. How- ever, it is another revival for some summer frocks. Where is the woman who does not at least remember doing this work by the yard-lens ago when she may care to admit?

For Little Girls.

This season sees a decided vogue for washable crepe de chine dresses for little girls, and chills is also being accorded approval.

There Was a Woman.

Were returned from Sunday school and complained that one of the little boys had slapped her. The following Sunday the mother asked her if the boy had slapped her again. "No," replied Mary. "I didn't get his little finger a smoochy today, so he didn't slap me."

They Don't Clean Teeth

In Your Way Now—Not the Men Who Know

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

They Now Combat the Film

Dental science has found a new way to clean teeth—a way that combats the film.

Able authorities have proved it for years in clinical and laboratory tests. The facts are beyond any question. Leading dentists all over America now urge people to adopt it, and a million or more have done so.

This method, for home use, is embodied in a dentifrice called Peppodent. And this week we offer, to every home in this city, enough for a ten-day test. For your own sake you should make that test.

Why Teeth Discolor and Decay

You can feel on your teeth a slimy film. It is ever-present, ever-forming. It clings to the teeth, gets between the teeth, enters crevices and stays.

The tooth brush does not end it. The ordinary dentifrice does not dissolve it. So, night and day, that film may do ceaseless damage. And most tooth troubles are now traced to it.

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of many other troubles, local and internal.

You Must End It

Millions of people find that brushed teeth discolor and decay. Tartar forms and pyorrhea starts. Statistics show that, despite the tooth brush, tooth troubles have been constantly increasing.

The reason lies in that film. To prevent the troubles you must end the film. Let this ten-day test show you the way to do it.

LUCKY FIGURE "9"

Almost Makes One Believe in "Science of Numbers."

Question May Well Be Asked, is There Any Connection Between Number Nine and Gold?—Statistics That Are Interesting.

A nugget, weighing 173 ounces, has been dug out in the Belgian Congo. This is one of the largest nuggets ever found outside Australia, and this new "land" of African gold is said to be amazingly rich.

It is, of course, a coincidence, but a very curious one, remarks a writer in London Answers, that all the great gold finds have been made in years ending with the figure "9". The famous California gold finds at Sutter's creek were in 1849.

Just ten years later came the discovery of gold in Australia, and in the very same year in British Columbia. The rush to Australia was really the beginning of the great inland gold rush, and the great gold rush in the British empire.

In 1908 the famous Comstock lode was reopened and proved the richest ever discovered in the United States. The year 1908 was the Arizona gold find and the great gold rush in the famous town of Tombstone.

In 1909 the famous equally important diggings of Clover creek, in Southern California, were opened up. Here the gold was just below the surface, and huge fortunes were piled up.

In 1909 history repeated itself. That was the year when the world first heard of the amazing riches of the Klondike, and when the great rush began in the far north. The Yukon gold has made that year a landmark in the history of gold digging.

The year 1909 again was the year in which British Columbia discovered that she possessed a veritable mountain range of gold. The first discovery was made at Bitter Creek, where free milling samples of rock averaged $15 worth of gold to the ton.

And now, in 1920, comes the news of this new discovery in the heart of tropical Africa.

This raises the question of the truth or otherwise of the so-called "Science of Numbers"—one of the many occult beliefs that have come to us from India and the East.

There are now many little books dealing with this subject, in which those who are attracted by out of the way windows will find much to interest and amuse them. It is as well, however, to read thoroughly all such books before getting them to any practical test. For one cannot help even feeling that if these "occult" are reliable, those who practice and profess to believe in them are not selling to fiction.

How We Eat Mermaids.

Even mermaids themselves would find it very hard to eat, different parts of the creature resembling beef, vener and pork. Their skin makes an excellent leather; their bones take a beautiful polish, and their livers furnish an oil resembling that of cod livers which is commonly used for medicine.

They are not called mermaids any longer, but "doggies" their human-like appearance when seen at the surface of the sea, with head and shoulders exposed to view, having in early times given rise to one of the most picturesque of myths.

The animal is about the size of a porpoise, with huge lungs (enabling it to stay for a long time under water) and gills like those of a eel. Its teeth that protrude from the upper jaw are a distinguishing mark of the male.
